HELP the Aged is urging older people to call its free advice line SeniorLine for a benefits check.

The request comes ahead of changes to the benefits system which will see any back dating of Pension Credit payments reduced to three months instead of the current 12 months.

Sinead Campbell, SeniorLine Manager said: 'As of October 6 this year, we will only be able to claim three months of back dated monies for any Pension Credit entitlements we identify. These changes will have a knock on effect to claims for Housing Benefit, Rate Rebate and Carers Premiums etc, which are normally back dated by the same period as Pension Credit.

"This change will have a big impact on older people who have not been claiming the benefits they are entitled to. Just last week one of our advisors identified £5,660 in unclaimed benefits for an older person. He will receive all of this money in a back-dated payment; however after the 6 October we would only be able to claim £1,415 on his behalf.

"There is still an estimated £168 million of benefits not being claimed. This is money that can make a big difference to some of our most vulnerable older people and we are strongly urging older people, or their carers, to call us, free on 0808 808 7575. Any unclaimed benefits we identify before October will still be able to be back dated 12 months."

The Help the Aged SeniorLine Freephone advice and advocacy service can check to see if you are receiving all of the benefits you are entitled to.
